

Thursday['θɜːzdi] n

четверг

on Thursday - в четверг

he comes every Thursday - он приезжает каждый четверг

see you Thursday - увидимся в четверг

◇ Holy Thursday - церк. а) великий четверг (четверг на страстной неделе); б) вознесениеThursday

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

Thurs·day [Thursday Thursdays] BrE ['θɜːzdeɪ] NAme ['θɜːrzdeɪ] BrE['θɜːzdi] NAme ['θɜːrzdi] noun countable, uncountable (abbr. Thur., Thurs.)the day of the week after Wednesday and before Friday To see how Thursday is used, look at the examples at Monday. From the Old English for 'day of thunder', translated from Latin Jovis dies 'Jupiter's day'. Jupiter was the god associated with thunder.Thursday

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

Thurs·day /'θɜːzdi,-deɪ $ 'θɜːrz-/ BrE AmE noun [uncountable and countable] (writtenabbreviation Thurs. or Thur.)[Language: Old English; Origin: Thunresdæg, from Thunor god of the sky + dæg 'day']

the day between Wednesday and Friday

on Thursday

" I went to Edinburgh on Thursday.

" She was working Thursday. *American EnglishThursday morning/afternoon etc

" There's a meeting on Thursday night.

last Thursday

" He was arrested last Thursday.

this Thursday

" Mark and I are driving south this Thursday.

next Thursday (=Thursday of next week)

" I'll see you next Thursday.

a Thursday (=one of the Thursdays in the year)

" Christmas Day is on a Thursday this year.