3. a person, an aircraft, etc. sent ahead to get information about the enemy's position, strength, etc.

4. = [†]talent scout

Word Origin:

late Middle English (as a verb): from Old French escouter 'listen', earlier ascolter, from Latin auscultare.

Culture:

The Scout Association was formed in Britain in 1908 by Lord Robert Baden-Powell. It organizes outdoor activities for boys, e.g. camping, and aims to teach them practical skills, discipline and social responsibility. Members wear uniforms, and their motto is 'Be prepared'. The four main groups are [†]Beaver Scouts (for ages 6-8), [†]Cub Scouts (8-10½), Scouts (10½-15½) and Venture Scouts (15½-20). Girls were admitted to the Scouts for the first time in Britain in 1990.
