Shut or close? Close often suggests a more slow or gentle action than shut

· Close your eyes and go to sleep.

Which Word?:

close / shut

You can close and shut doors, windows, your eyes, mouth, etc.

Shut can suggest more noise and is often found in phrases such as slammed shut, banged shut, snapped shut.

Shut is also usually used for containers such as boxes, suitcases, etc.

To talk about the time when shops, offices, etc. are not open, use close or shut • What time do the banks close/shut?  $\diamondsuit$  • A strike has shut the factory. You can also use closed or shut (NAmE usually closed): • The store is closed/shut today.

Especially in NAmE, shut can sound less polite.

Closed is used in front of a noun, but shut is not: • a closed window.

We usually use closed about roads, airports, etc: • The road is closed because of the snow.

Close is also used in formal English to talk about ending a meeting or conversation.

Example Bank:

- I can't shut my suitcase— it's too full.
- I shut my eyes against the bright light.
- The window won't shut.

Idioms: \frac{1}{2} shut up shop \( \bigsim \frac{1}{2} shut your mouth \)

Derived †shut down = †shut off = †shut somebody away = †shut somebody in = †shut somebody off from something = †shut somebody out = †shut something down = †shut something in something = †shut something off = †shut something up = †shut yourself away = †shut yourself off
