considerable Apresyan (En-Ru)

1. [kən'sıd(ə)rəb(ə)l] n amep. pasa.

масса, множество; значительное количество

he has done considerable for the disabled - он много сделал для инвалидов he has earned considerable - он здорово заработал

2. [kən'sıd(ə)rəb(ə)l] a

1) значительный, большой

considerable part [sum of money] - значительная часть [сумма денег] considerable number [distance] - значительное число [расстояние] considerable weight [expense, income] - большой вес [расход, доход] I have given considerable thought to the matter - я много думал об этом деле

2) важный, видный

considerable citizens - видные граждане to become a considerable personage - сделаться важной персоной

considerable

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

con-sid-er-able AW BrE [kən'sidərəbl] NAmE [kənˈsɪdərəbl] adjective (rather formal) great in amount, size, importance, etc.

Syn: †significant

- The project wasted a considerable amount of time and money.
- · Damage to the building was considerable.
- Considerable progress has been made in finding a cure for the disease.

Word Origin:

late Middle English (in the sense 'capable of being considered'): from medieval Latin considerabilis 'worthy of consideration', from Latin considerare 'examine', perhaps based on sidus, sider- 'star'.

Thesaurus:

considerable [considerable] adj.

· Considerable amounts of money were wasted.

substantial • • large • • sizeable • • extensive • • great • • big • • huge • • vast • • enormous • • tremendous • Opp: negligible

a/an considerable/substantial/large/sizeable/extensive/great/big/huge/vast/enormous/tremendous amount a/an considerable/substantial/large/sizeable/great/big/huge/vast/enormous sum/profit a considerable/substantial/extensive/great/big/huge/vast/enormous/tremendous change/improvement/influence

Considerable or substantial? Considerable is not used to talk about solid things, such as meals or buildings. Substantial is not used to talk about emotions or personal qualities, such as anger, concern or efficiency:

· Caring for elderly relatives requires considerable moral courage.

* substantial moral courage:

- He ate a substantial breakfast.
- x a considerable breakfast

Example Bank:

- They can run quite considerable distances.
- · Caring for elderly relatives requires considerable moral courage.
- · The animal was in considerable distress.

considerable

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

consider a ble S3 W1 AC /kən'sıdərəbəl/ BrE AmE adjective

[Word Family: adjective: ↑considerable ≠ ↑inconsiderable, ↑considerate ≠ ↑inconsiderate, ↑considered; verb: ↑consider freconsider; noun: fconsideration, freconsideration; adverb fconsiderably, fconsiderately ≠ finconsiderately] fairly large, especially large enough to have an effect or be important ⇒ inconsiderable considerable amount/number etc of something

- We've saved a considerable amount of money.
- Michael has already spent considerable time in Barcelona.
- issues of considerable importance
 - The series has aroused considerable interest.

THESAURUS

- big: a big city | a big guy | a big mistake | Lack of funding is the biggest problem. | Getting a car has made a big difference to
- large a slightly more formal word than big, used to describe objects and amounts: a large bowl | Large areas of the forest have been destroyed. | The museum attracts a large number of visitors.
- major [only before noun] big and important: Pollution is a major problem. | There has been a major change in government policy.
- considerable/substantial quite big used especially about amounts: They have spent a considerable amount of money on the project. A substantial amount of heat is lost through the windows. He had a considerable influence on young musicians.

Considerable

12500⁹⁹⁹McW

15000²⁰⁰⁰cocA

RANGE: 2k CONSIDERABLE 17597

considerable 11869
inconsiderable 78

Freakuency Pack

COCA 500k Unlemmatized 8895348011865 jj

considerably 5650

4442927⁴ nnu