

disloyal[dis'loɪəl] a

1) нелояльный

I couldn't be disloyal to him - я не мог отказать ему в поддержке

2) неверный, вероломный, предательский

disloyal friend - неверный друг

disloyal

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

dis·loyal BrE [dis'loɪəl] ^ˈ NAmE [dis'loɪəl] ^ˈ adjective ~ (to sb/sth)

not loyal or faithful to your friends, family, country, etc

- He was accused of being disloyal to the government
- a disloyal remark
- It was very disloyal of you to repeat what I'd said to Peter.

Derived Word ↑disloyaltyWord Origin:late 15th cent.: from Old French desloial, from des- (expressing negation) + loial 'loyal' .Example Bank:

- He has shown disloyalty to the party and is not to be trusted.
- Her friends accused her of disloyalty .

Example Bank:

- It was very disloyal of you to repeat what I'd said to Peter.
- She had occasionally made a disloyal remark.

disloyal

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

disloyal /dis'loɪəl/ BrE ^ˈ AmE ^ˈ *adjective*doing or saying things that do not support your friends, your country, or the group you belong to OPP loyal*disloyal to^ˈ He felt he had been disloyal to his friends.—disloyalty noun [uncountable]disloyal

Freakuency Pack

12500 10384^{MCW}15000 10738^{COCA}RANGE: 9k DISLOYAL ⁵⁶⁵disloyal ³²⁶disloyally ⁴disloyalty ²³⁵disloyalties ⁰

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

283 40646³²⁶ jj