

reading1. ['ri:diŋ] n*1. 1) чтение

outside reading - внеклассное /внеаудиторное/ чтение to teach reading and writing - обучать чтению и письму a book that makes good [dull] reading - интересная [скучная] книга
 there is plenty of reading in today's paper - в сегодняшней газете есть что почитать

2) подготовка, занятия

to be busy with reading for one's exams - готовиться к экзаменам

2. начитанность, эрудиция

a man of wide reading - эрудит, весьма начитанный человек

3. 1) публичное чтение; читка

readings from Shakespeare - исполнение чтением отрывков из произведений Шекспира

2) лекция, доклад4. формулировка (текста); вариант текста

various reading - разночтение

5. толкование, истолкование, интерпретация понимание

what is your reading of the facts? - как вы понимаете /как, по-вашему, следует толковать/ эти факты?
 a study to get some reading of the shoppers' preferences - исследование, ставящее целью дать некоторое представление о вкусах покупателей an actor's reading of a part - интерпретация роли актёром my reading of his character - моё представление о его характере one's reading of the political [of the military] situation - чей-л. анализ политического [военного] положения she gave him her reading of the matter - она изложила ему свою версию этого дела

6. полигр. читка корректуры

reading for the press - сводка

7. спец.1) отсчёт (по шкале); показание (измерительного прибора)

zero reading - нулевой отсчёт barometer reading - метеор. высота барометра to take readings - снимать показания (прибора); производить отсчёт
 the reading of the thermometer was 95u00B0 - термометр показывал 95u00B0

2) считывание (информации)8. р/ спец. показатели, данные (из таблицы)*9. парл. чтение (стадия прохождения законопроекта)

first reading - первое чтение (официальное внесение законопроекта в парламент) second reading - второе чтение (обсуждение законопроекта и решение об его отклонении или дальнейшем рассмотрении) third reading - третье чтение (принятие окончательного текста)
 the bill was rejected at the second reading - законопроект был отвергнут при /во/ втором чтении

2. ['ri:diŋ] a1. читающий, любящий чтение

the reading public - читающая публика, широкие круги читателей reading conference - читательская конференция reading man - а) любитель чтения; начитанный человек; б) унив. прилежный, много читающий студент

2. предназначенный для чтения

reading matter - литература материал для чтения reading list - рекомендательный список книг reading machine - аппарат для чтения микрофильмов reading easel - пюпитр reading wand - автоматическое устройство для считывания кодовых ярлыков на розничных товарах

reading

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

read·ing [reading readings] BrE ['ri:dɪŋ] NAmE ['ri:dɪŋ] noun*ACTIVITY*1. uncountable the activity of sb who reads

- My hobbies include reading and painting.
- He needs more help with his reading.
- Are you any good at map reading?
- reading glasses (= worn when reading)
- a reading lamp/light (= one that can be moved to shine light onto sth that you are reading)
- She has a reading knowledge of German (= she can understand written German) .

2. singular an act of reading sth

- A closer (= more detailed) reading of the text reveals just how desperate he was feeling.
- We are all expected to attend the reading of her will.

BOOKS/ARTICLES

3. uncountable books, articles, etc. that are intended to be read

- reading matter/material
- a series of reading books for children
- a reading list (= a list of books, etc. that students are expected to read for a particular subject)
- further reading (= at the end of a book, a list of other books that give more information about the same subject)
- The report makes for interesting reading (= it is interesting to read)
- The article is not exactly light reading (= it is not easy to read) .

WAY OF UNDERSTANDING

4. countable ~ (of sth) the particular way in which you understand a book, situation, etc.

Syn: †interpretation

- a literal reading of the text
- My own reading of events is less optimistic .

MEASUREMENT

5. countable the amount or number shown on an instrument used for measuring sth

- Meter readings are taken every three months.

EVENT

6. countable an event at which sth is read to an audience for entertainment; a piece of literature that is read at such an event

- a poetry reading
- The evening ended with a reading from her latest novel.

FROM BIBLE

7. countable a short section from the Bible that is read to people as part of a religious service

- The reading today is from the Book of Daniel.

IN PARLIAMENT

8. countable one of the stages during which a †bill (= a proposal for a new law) must be discussed and accepted by a parliament before it can become law

- The bill looks like it will be given a second reading.

Example Bank:

- A reading of 25 or more is abnormally high.
- After extensive reading on the subject she set to work on an article.
- Dickens gave many public readings from his works.
- He asked her about her reading habits.
- He draws his morality from a literal reading of the Old Testament.
- He has a reading age of eight.
- Her assigned reading for English class was 'Great Expectations'.
- His article should be compulsory reading for law students.
- His reading about Ruskin led him to the works of Turner.
- Horror is hardly my idea of bedtime reading.
- I haven't had time to do much reading lately.
- I need to get down to some serious reading.
- I saw a staged reading of the new play 'Light'.
- In the holidays I'll get down to some serious reading.
- Longinus provides a sensitive reading of Sappho's poem.
- My map-reading skills are not the best.
- She has a good reading knowledge of Russian.
- Temperature readings were recorded throughout the day.
- The book is worthwhile reading for anyone interested in the Industrial Revolution.
- The dials were giving higher readings than we had expected.
- Their story makes compulsive reading.
- These paintings often invite an allegorical reading.
- We assign readings from different contexts and periods of history.
- We met at a reading of his poetry.
- her attentive and insightful reading of the manuscript
- readings from the Koran
- some light holiday reading
- He was invited to give a poetry reading as part of the literary festival.
- The reading was given by Mrs Smith.
- Those conclusions are based on a literal reading of the text.

reading

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

read ing W2 /'ri:dɪŋ/ BrE ^m AmE ^m noun

[Word Family: noun: †read, †reader, †readership, †reading, †readability; verb: †read; adjective: †readable ≠ †unreadable]

1. ACTIVITY/SKILL [uncountable] the activity or skill of understanding written words:

- She loves reading.

Reading is taught using a combination of several methods.

2. BOOKS [uncountable] books and other things that you can read:

" Her main reading seems to be mystery novels.

" a bit of light reading (=things that are easy and enjoyable to read) for my holiday

" There's a list of further reading (=other things you can read) at the end of each chapter.

" a supply of interesting reading material

3. ACT OF READING [singular] when you read something:

" The book is quite difficult on first reading.

" a close reading of the text (=when you read it very carefully)

4. UNDERSTANDING [countable] your way of understanding what a particular statement, situation, event etc means SYN interpretation

reading of

" What's your reading of the government's response to this crisis?

5. TO A GROUP [countable]

a) an occasion when a piece of literature is read to a group of people:

a poetry reading at the bookstore

b) a piece of writing, especially from the Bible, that is read to a group of people:

The first reading is from Corinthians I, Chapter 3.

6. make (for) interesting/fascinating/compelling etc reading to be interesting etc to read:

" Your report made fascinating reading.

7. MEASUREMENT [countable] a number or amount shown on a measuring instrument:

" We take temperature readings every two hours.

8. IN PARLIAMENT [countable] one of the occasions in the British Parliament or the US Congress when a suggested new law is discussed:

" the second reading of the Industrial Relations Bill

reading

Freakuency Pack

12500 1707^{MCW}

15000 243^{COCA}

RANGE: 1k READ 187615

read 84702

reader 15396

readers 18127

reading 53943

readings 3924

reads 8260

misread 479

misreads 39

misreading 302

readability 348

readable 522

unreadable 450

reread 611

rereads 26

rereading 312

unread 174

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

16767 1472²⁸⁵⁰⁶ vvg

10364 1978²¹⁶⁸¹ nn1

1904 8718³⁷²² np1

23 160174²⁴ nnu

9 260244¹⁰ jj
