Synonyms:

cheat

fool • deceive • betray • take in • trick • con

These words all mean to make sb believe sth that is not true, especially in order to get what you want.

cheat • to make sb believe sth that is not true, in order to get money or sth else from them: ■ She is accused of attempting to cheat the taxman. ♦ He cheated his way into the job.

Cheat also means to act in a dishonest way in order to gain an advantage, especially in a game, competition or exam: • You're not allowed to look at the answers— • that's cheating •.

fool • to make sb believe sth that is not true, especially in order to laugh at them or to get what you want: • Just don't be fooled into investing any money with them.

take sb in • [often passive] to deceive sb, usually in order to get what you want: • I was taken in by her story.

trick • to deceive sb, especially in a clever way, in order to get what you want.

con • (informal) to deceive sb, especially in order to get money from them or get them to do sth for you: • They had been conned out of £100 000.

Many of these words involvemaking sb believe sth that is not true, but some of them are more disapproving than others. Deceive is probably the worst because people typically deceive friends, relations and others who know and trust them. People may feel cheated/betrayed by sb in authority who they trusted to look after their interests. If sb takes you in, they may do it by acting a part and using words and charm effectively. If sb cheats/fools/tricks/cons you, they may get sth from you and make you feel stupid. However, sb might fool you just as a joke; and to trick sb is sometimes seen as a clever thing to do, if the person being tricked is seen as a bad person who deserves it.
