tonic Apresyan (En-Ru)

1. ['tɒnɪk] n

1. 1) мед. тонизирующее, укрепляющее средство

general tonics - общие тонизирующие средства to give smb. a tonic - давать тонизирующее средство кому-л., поднимать чей-л. тонус to take smth. as a tonic - принимать что-л. в качестве тонизирующего средства to act as a tonic on smb. - действовать на кого-л. как тонизирующее средство, взбадривать кого-л.

2) тоник, тонизирующий напиток (mж. tonic water)

celery tonic - тоник, ароматизированный сельдереем

муз. тоника

3. фон. уст. ударный слог

2. ['tpnik] a

1. мед.

1) тонизирующий, укрепляющий

tonic drug - лекарство, повышающее тонус

the tonic quality of the sea air - тонизирующее свойство морского воздуха

it has been a tonic experience for him - это повысило его тонус, в результате он как следует встряхнулся

2) связанный с тонусом мышц

tonic convulsion /spasm/ - тонический спазм, патологическое сокращение мышц

2. муз. тонический

tonic sol-fa - тоническое сольфеджио

tonic chord - тонический аккорд

3. фон.

1) тонический, относящийся к ударению

tonic stress /accent/ - (музыкальное) ударение

2) тоновый (о языке)

- 3) ударный, акцентированный
- 4. жив. относящийся к тонам, светотени
- 3. ['tɒnɪk] V
 - 1) тонизировать стимулировать, укреплять
 - 2) давать тонизирующее средство

tonic

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

NAmE ['ta□n□k" tonic [tonic tonics] BrE ['tonik] noun

1. (also 'tonic water) uncountable, countable a clear fizzy drink (= with bubbles in it) with a slightly bitter taste, that is often mixed with a strong alcoholic drink, especially †gin or †vodka

- · a gin and tonic
- 2. countable a medicine that makes you feel stronger and healthier, taken especially when you feel tired
- 3. countable, uncountable a liquid that you put on your hair or skin in order to make it healthier
- skin tonic
- 4. countable, usually singular (old-fashioned) anything that makes people feel healthier or happier
- The weekend break was just the tonic I needed.
- 5. countable (music) the first note of a \frac{1}{2} scale of eight notes

6. (a/so tonic 'syllable) countable (phonetics) the syllable in a tone unit on which a change in pitch takes place See also: †tonic water

Word Origin:

mid 17th cent.: from French tonique, from Greek tonikos 'of or for stretching', from tonos 'tension, tone', from teinein 'to stretch'.

tonic

tonic /'tonik $ 'ta - BrE * AmE * noun

[Date: 1600-1700; Language: Greek; Origin: tonikos, from tonos; ⇒ †tone¹]

- 1. [uncountable and countable] (also 'tonic ,water) a clear bitter-tasting drink that you can mix with alcoholic drinks such as †gin or ¹vodka:
 - She sat and sipped a gin and tonic.
- 2. [countable] a drink that you have as a medicine to give you more energy or strength when you feel tired:

A lot of people need a tonic at the end of the winter.

3. [countable usually singular] British English something that makes you feel happy and full of energy:

A weekend by the sea was the perfect tonic.

4. [countable] a liquid that you put on your hair or skin to improve it and make it more healthy:

a herbal skin tonic

5. [countable usually singular] technical the first note in a musical *\frac{1}{2} scale of eight notes

tonic Freakuency Pack ₁₂₅₀₀5196^{MCW}

150008141COCA

RANGE: 4k TONIC 1128 tonic 974 tonics 154

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

67521705955 nn1 ₁₆182391¹⁹ jj