

batch

I

1. [bætʃ] n

- 1) 1) партия выпеченного (в один приём) хлеба; замес; выпечка
 - 2) партия фарфоровых или фаянсовых изделий, обожжённых одновременно
 2. 1) кучка, пачка; ряд; партия, серия
- batch production - серийное производство batch of books [letters, documents] - пачка /связка/ книг [писем, документов] batch of eggs - кладка яиц (насекомых) batch of goods - партия товаров

2) группа

batch of visitors - группа /вереница/ посетителей/гостей/batch of recruits - воен. команда новобранцев

3. 1) стр. замес (бетонной смеси)2) спец. дозировка; порция

batch process - циклический или периодический процесс

4. вчт. пакет (обрабатываемых) данных

batch entry - пакетный ввод (данных) batch job - пакетное задание batch mode - пакетный режим

◇ of the same batch - того же сорта /рода/; ≅ одним миром мазаны

2. [bætʃ] v спец.

дозировать

II

[bætʃ] n разг.

холостяк

batch

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

batch [batch batches batched batching] noun, verb BrE [bætʃ] ^u NAmE [bætʃ]

noun

- 1. a number of people or things that are dealt with as a group
 - Each summer a new batch of students tries to find work.
 - He worked his way through the batch of letters on his desk.
 - We deliver the goods in batches .
- 2. an amount of food, medicine, etc. produced at one time
 - a batch of cookies
 - loaves of bread baked in batches of 20
 - It is necessary to make new batches of flu vaccine whenever a different, virulent strain of flu makes an appearance.
- 3. (computing) a set of jobs that are processed together on a computer
 - to process a batch job
 - a batch file/program

Word Origin:

late 15th cent. (in the senses 'process of baking', 'quantity produced at one baking'): based on an Old English word related to bacan, of Germanic origin. Current senses date from the early 18th cent.

Example Bank:

- He baked a fresh batch of rolls.
- How many books are there in each batch?
- We deliver the goods in batches.
- a batch of letters
- the latest batch of opinion polls
- to run in batch mode
- Funding has been approved for an initial batch of 35 aircraft.
- New batches of flu vaccine must be made whenever a different strain of flu makes an appearance.
- Shall I make another batch of cookies?
- a batch file/job/program

verb transitive, intransitive ~ (sth)

to put things into groups in order to deal with them

- The service will be improved by batching and sorting enquiries.

Verb forms:

verb forms
present simple
I / you / we / they	batch
	BrE /bætʃ/
	NAme /bæʃ/
he / she / it	batches
	BrE /bætʃɪz/
	NAme /bæʃɪz/
past simple, past participle	batched
	BrE /bætʃt/
	NAme /bæʃt/
-ing form	batching
	BrE /bætʃɪŋ/
	NAme /bæʃɪŋ/

Word Origin:

late 15th cent. (in the senses 'process of baking', 'quantity produced at one baking'): based on an Old English word related to bacan, of Germanic origin. Current senses date from the early 18th cent.

batch

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

batch /bætʃ/ BrE " AmE " noun [countable]

[Date: 1400-1500; Origin: From an unrecorded Old English bæcce 'something baked', from bacan; ⇒ [↑]bake]

1. a group of people or things that arrive or are dealt with together

batch of

" Every day another batch of papers reaches the manager, demanding his attention.

2. a quantity of food, medicine etc that is produced or prepared at the same time

batch of

" She was in the kitchen taking a batch of bread out of the oven.

3. a set of jobs that are dealt with together on a computer:

" an overnight batch file

" a batch job

batch

Freakuency Pack

12500 6211^{MCW}

15000 4887^{COCA}

RANGE: 4k BATCH 3259

batch 2351

batches 908

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

1711 12191²³²⁷ nn1

13 215586¹⁴ vv0

9 261827¹⁰ vvi