

resonance

I

['rezənəns] n

резонанс

acoustic resonance - акустический резонанс

II

['rezənəns] n физ.

резонанс, резонанс (элементарная частица)

resonance

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

res·on·ance [resonance resonances] BrE ['rezənəns] [ⓘ] NAmE ['rezənəns] [ⓘ]

noun

- 1. uncountable (formal) (of sound) the quality of being ↑resonant
 - Her voice had a strange and thrilling resonance.
- 2. countable, uncountable (technical) the sound or other ↑vibration produced in an object by sound or ↑vibrations of a similar ↑frequency from another object
- 3. uncountable, countable (formal) (in a piece of writing, music, etc.) the power to bring images, feelings, etc. into the mind of the person reading or listening; the images, etc. produced in this way

Word Origin:late Middle English: from Old French, from Latin resonantia 'echo', from resonare 'resound', from re- (expressing intensive force) + sonare 'to sound'.resonance

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

res·on·ance /'rezənəns/ BrE [ⓘ] AmE [ⓘ] noun

- 1. [uncountable] the resonance of a sound is its quality of being deep and loud and continuing for a long time
- 2. [uncountable and countable] formal the special meaning or importance that something has for you because it relates to your own experiences:
 - [ⓘ] a tradition that has little resonance in the 21st century
 - [ⓘ] His words will have resonance for many musicians.
- 3. [uncountable and countable] technical sound that is produced or increased in one object by sound waves from another object

resonance

Freakuency Pack

12500 8347^{MCW}15000 5678^{COCA}RANGE: 8k RESONANCE ²⁴²⁴resonance ²¹³⁶resonances ²⁸⁸

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

1524 12928²¹³² *nn1*4 443888⁴ nnu